LOK SABHA

The following Bill was introduced in Lok Sabha on the 6th August, 1977:—

BILL No. 91 OF 1977

A Bill to provide for the salary and allowances of Leaders of Opposition in Parliament.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Twenty-eighth Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

1. (1) This Act may be called the Salary and Allowances of Leaders of Opposition in Parliament Act, 1977.

(2) It shall come into force on such date as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint.

2. In this Act, "Leader of the Opposition", in relation to either House of Parliament, means that member of the Council of States or the House of the People, as the case may be, who is, for the time being, the Leader in that House of the party in opposition to the Government having the greatest numerical strength and recognised as such by the Chairman of the Council of States or the Speaker of the House of the People, as the case may be.

Explanation—Where there are two or more parties in opposition to the Government, in the Council of States or in the House of the People having the same numerical strength, the Chairman of the Council of States or the Speaker of the House of the People as the case may be, shall, having regard to the status of the parties, recognise any one of the Leaders of such parties as the Leader of the Opposition for the purposes of this section and such recognition shall be final and conclusive

‘Explanation 2—In clause (aa), the expression “Leader of the Opposition” shall have the meaning assigned to it in the Salary and Allowances of Leaders of Opposition in Parliament Act, 1977’.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

In a Parliamentary democracy, the leader of the opposition has an important role to play. In the United Kingdom, Australia and Canada, the leader of the opposition has been accorded statutory recognition. In India, a number of States have started giving facilities and amenities to the leaders of the opposition in the State Legislative Assemblies. Having regard to the important role of the leader of the opposition in a Parliamentary democracy, it is considered that the Leaders of Opposition in the House of the People and the Council of States should be accorded statutory recognition and given salary and certain other facilities and amenities to enable them to discharge their functions in Parliament. The Bill mainly seeks to achieve the above objects.

2 Certain consequential amendments to the Salary, Allowances and Pension of Members of Parliament Act, 1954 and the Parliament (Prevention of Disqualification) Act, 1959 are also being proposed in the Bill.

NEW DELHI;

RAVINDRA VARMA.

The 4th August, 1977.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 3 of the Bill provides for the payment to each leader of the opposition a salary of two thousand, two hundred and fifty rupees per month, Clause 4 provides for housing facilities to each leader of the opposition. Clauses 5 and 6 of the Bill provide for travelling and daily allowances and medical treatment to each leader of the opposition. Under clause 8, each leader of the opposition shall be entitled to telephone and secretarial facilities as may be prescribed by rules. Clause 8 also provides for the payment of a conveyance allowance of three hundred rupees per month to each leader of the opposition.

2. Expenditure towards the payments, referred to above, cannot be estimated precisely. However, the expenditure will, approximately, be two lakh rupees per annum.

3. There will be no non-recurring expenditure.

MEMORANDUM REGARDING DELEGATED LEGISLATION

Clause 10 of the Bill empowers the Central Government to make rules for carrying out the purposes of the Act. Sub-clause (2) of this clause enables the Central Government to make rules to provide for the rates at which rent shall be payable by the family of a deceased Leader of the Opposition to the use of the furnished residence occupied by him, the travelling and daily allowances, the medical treatment and the telephone and secretarial facilities admissible to a Leader of the Opposition.

2. The matters in respect of which rules may be made are matters of procedure or detail. The delegation of legislative power is, therefore, of a normal character.
